

Ancillary Carrier Services

Product Promotion

Ancillary carriers frequently have a difficult time getting brokers to market their products consistently. It is often much easier for the broker to bundle the medical carrier's ancillary offerings with the medical insurance versus quote and enroll stand alone ancillary offerings offline. Also, brokers are often overwhelmed by the number of ancillary offerings available and may simply forget to include a product quote. Through a carefully implemented process, HealthConnect allows ancillary carriers to achieve greater sales—by putting their product in front of the broker each time the broker processes a medical quote and “piggybacking” the ancillary quoting and enrollment process with medical.
